SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT PROXIMITY

A Boy Who Made a Gun Becomes a Victim of It.

Proximity Bureau.

Preston Stout, a former citizen of this place, but now of Altamaha, came over yesterday in company with Mr. Stevenson, and is spending a little time on the hill visiting friends.

We went over to the Revolution Mill last evening and found everything alive with workmen, getting things in shape to commece the manufacture of goods. First we saw men penciling the store building, next was a force of men putting down flooring in the mill building. Then we came up to where Mr. Pearce, a city engineer, had a squad of men putting in sewer pipe. Mr. Frazier, the foreman, had men at work on the cistern. Machinists were at work putting in the large engine, and others were putting in shafting.

Bert Betha, who travels for a machine company and puts in looms, is spending a few days in the village on very pleasant business.

We are sorry to hear of the painful accident that happened to the little son of Charlie McDowell last evening. Most boys like a gun and this one was more ingenious than others and went to work and made one for himself. He found an iron tube and drove a plug of iron in one end for a breechpin, and filed a hole in the tube for a touch hole. That device was aswering all purposes intended until last evening when he held the gun up to take sight while another boy touched it off. When the powder exploded the plug blew out and struck the boy over the right eye, taking a downward course, and when Drs. Meadows and Turner were called in it was hard to find just where the plug was. It being so far in it was thought to be fatal to cut the bones and flesh to find it. It is feared that the boy will die from the injuries.

Mr. Cecil, the contractor for the Revolution Mills, expects to go to Lexington today to build a cistern and also to look after a large contract.

Something for High Point.

High Point, March 6—A crowded house greeted Rev. Mr. Pearson at his second sermon in the M. E. church last night. The introductory service was in charge of Rev. M. A. Kesley, and consisted of songs and prayers, and as on the night before lasted about half an hour. At 8 o'clock Mr. Pearson arose and after making a few preliminary remarks announced his text, which was taken from James 5:15. "The prayers of the righteous availeth much." The word prayer was the subject of his discourse and he handled it in a convincing manner.

Kev. S. D. Stamey, pastor of Maomi station is attending the Pearson meetings.

R. P. Chaplain, of Charlotte, was a guest of this city last night.

The business houses of town closed last night and attended the meetings. Every evening except Saturday, during the meetings, this will be kept up. This is commendable in our merchants.

The Guilford College ball team will open the season next Saturday afternoon when they will cross bats with Elon College.

The Telegram to Move April First.

On April the first the Telegram office will be moved to No. 111 South Elm street, the office adjoining Murray Bros.' insurance office near the government building. This room will be used for the offices of the paper and a corrugated iron structure will be erected in the rear for press and composing rooms. Mr. A. F. Brooks, contractor, has been given the job to put up the building. When moved the paper will in every way be able to give the people of Greensboro a better service. A new fast press will be put in which will enable us to get all the telegraphic news and still reach our patrons on time. Other improvements will be made, the announcement of which will be made later.

Dr. R. F. Gray Dead.

A 'phone message from Winston today announces the death of Dr. R. F. Gray at his home in that city last night at 7:15. Dr. Gray was one of the best known, most successful and popular physicians in the Twin City. He has been in poor health for a year or two, and while the news of his death is painful, it is not a surprise. He was a brother of Mr. R. T. Gray, of Raleigh. Dr. Gray leaves an aged mother, a wife, seven children, two sisters and five brothers. He was 47 years old.

DEATH OF MISSES HAYWOOD.

Two Sisters Expire Within a Few Hours of Each Other.

Raleigh Post.

Two sad deaths occurred in this city Sunday. Miss Margaret Craven Haywood passed away at 4 o'clock a. m., ang only a few hours later her sister, Miss Mary Eliza Haywood, expired at 12:30 p. m

Both of these ladies had been ill with pneumonia for several days, and another sister, Miss Martha Haywood, just a week before had succumbed to that dread disease.

They were the daughters of the late Mr. William Dallas Haywood, at one time one of Raleigh's wealthiest and most prominent citizens, who, for years, was mayor of the city.

Funeral services over their remains were held yesterday afternoon from Christ Church in the presence of a large congregation of sympathizing friends and relatives.

MR. PEARSON AT HIGH POINT.

He Began His Meeting Sunday—Editor Fariss to Write a Book.

High Point, March 5—Fred Jones, brother of the photographer, has been busy the past week or so taking views of the different manufacturing concerns, banks churches, residences, principal streets, etc., to go in a book of High Point under the authorship of Editor J. J. Fariss. Both interior and exterior views have been taken.

It is interesting to see what a great change artists in the persons of Rees & Bond, of Greensboro, have wrought on the stage of the High Point opera house, and in less than one week, too. Go up and take a look at the "transformation."

Rev. R G. Pearson, the well known evangelist of Asheville, held the first of a series of meetings in the M. E church last night, preaching on "Faith and Works" to a crowded house. Before the sermon a prayer and song service was conducted by Rev. W. R. Lowdermilk of the M. P. church, in in which the different pastors took part.

I do not think a congregation ever listened to more solid truth in the same length of time as was expounded by Dr. Pearson last night. He is one among the few that preaches plain doctrine void of all sensationalism and clap-trap sayings. From the first he draws your attention and holds you in a state of intense interest until he is through. Tonight he preaches on "Prayer," tomorrow night on "Consecration," on Wednesday night on "Baptism of the Holy Spirit" and on Thursday and Friday nights to the mothers and fathers. He will preach only at night. No services Saturday Mrs. Pearson will conduct services in the Presbyterian church this week on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, preaching to women only. Next week she will change to the M. P. church.

Quite a large crowd from the surrounding neighborhood attended meeting last night.

The Enterprise will issue a daily during the Pearson meetings.

Dockery-Bellamy Contest.

Raleigh Post.

Washington, March 5.—For seven hours today Mr. Charles M. Busbee, principal counsel for Congressman Bellamy, whose seat Oliver H. Dockery is contesting, addressed Election Committee No. 2 in behalf of his client. Last Friday Colonel Dudley spoke nearly all day for Mr. Dockery.

Mr. Busbee, by his easy, polished manner, keen wit and ready repartee, soon won the sympathy of his audience. He made one of the finest, most logical and cogent arguments ever heard in an election contest. When 5 o'clock arrived he had not concluded his speech. The committee adjourned until tomorrow when he will conclude, to be followed by Frank I. Osborne

Colonel Dudley will sum up for Dockery. It is evident that the committee from questions asked will hardly unseat Bellamy. Seated about the room was Mr. Dockery looking severe and determined, with never a smile passing over his countenance, Congressman Kitchin and Crawford and Senator Pritchard.

CARSED AGAINST GREENSBORO.

Appeal Likely to be Heard Before the Supreme Court Today.

News and Observer.

The case of E. T. Garsed vs. the city of Greensboro, involving the constitutionality of the dispensary law, is expected to come up in the Supreme Court today. Plaintiff lost in the court below and brought the case up on the contention "that the dispensary board are the officers and agents of the city of Greensboro and have no power except as said officers and agents; that section 7 article 7 of the constitution of North Carolina says:

"No county, city, town or other municipal corporation shall contract any debt, pledge its faith or loan its credit, nor shall any tax be levied or collected by any officers of the same except for the necessary expenses thereof unless by a vote of the majority of the qualified voters therein. On this basis plaintiff contends that the appropriation by the city to establish the dispensary was unconstitutional and the city authorities were enjoined from furnishing funds for such purpose pending the settlement of the case. The dispensary is now being run on funds supplied by the managing board.

The defendant city contends that:

"The dispensary board are not the officers and agents of the city of Greensboro, but of the state of North Carolina, for the regulation of the sale of liquors. The legislature prescribed their duties, what officers they should elect, the duties of such officers and the manner in which they should regulate the sale of liquor. It gave them jurisdiction over a larger territory than the city of Greensboro, and because it entrusted the board of aldermen as its agent to name said board, and provided that the bonds of the manager and treasurer should be made payable to the city of Greensboro, it did not intend thereby nor did it in law, make them the "officers and agents" of said city. Certainly the agent or officer would not be clothed with a greater jurisdiction than the board of aldermen had themselves.

"The legislature merely selected the dispensary board through the board of aldermen as its agent to name them. It gave the board of aldermen no power over them, but gave the power of removal for cause to the judge of the district. It gave the board of aldermen no power over the officers of said dispensary, nor power to prescribe or regulate the conduct or management of the business."

It also alleges that the point at issue was virtually decided by the court in Guy vs. Commissioners, 121, N. C., page 473.

Plaintiff is represented by Bynum and Bynum and Col. John N. Staples, and defendant by A. M. Scales, John N. Wilson and A. L. Brooks.

Democratic Opportunity.

Henderson Gold Leaf.

Alluding to the fact that there seems to be a disposition on the part of the democrats to nominate Mr. Mebane, the present state superintendent of Public Instruction, as their candidate for that office this year, the Statesville Landmark says:

"No Democratic convention, committee or anybody else has any sort of right to name other than a democrat for democrats to vote for. If such a one is named and a democrat refuses to support him, he is clearly within his rights."

And yet we believe that if Mr. Mebane is nominated no real friend of the cause of public education among democrats will decline to vote for him, although he might be acting clearly within his rights in so refusing.

Ordinarily we do not believe in nominating or supporting any but men of our own political faith, but the office of Superintendent of public instruction should be non-partisan. If it is not such (and it must be admitted that it has been as nearly so under Mr. Mebane's incumbency as it was possible under the circumstances to make it, and if he has leaned one way more than another it was towards the side the democrats—for the good of the schools) an opportunity is now offered to make it so. And the Gold Leaf wants to see the democrats equal to the occassion and lift this office out and above partisan politics. Will they do it?

Terrible Assaults in Norfolk.

Norfolk seems to have a Jack the Ripper. Saturday night some one entered the room where a man named Miller and his wife were sleeping, and with a piece of scantling beat them into insensibility. On Monday morning Miss Alice Conelley was found in an unconscious condition in the hallway of her home. Wounds on her face showed that she had been severely clubbed. A lamp beside her showed that she had probably gone to investigate a noise, and meeting the burglar, had been struck down before she could give the alarm.

She has not recovered consciousness, and therefore the police have meagre information upon which to work. The circumstances surrounding the crime, the manner of the assault and the weapon used are startlingly similar to the Miller case of the previous night. It is suggested by the police that Walter Cotton, who escaped from the Portsmouth jail while awaiting execution, is the murderous burglar.

John Westervelt, his wife and six-year old daughter were burned to death in the destruction of their home by fire at Chaffin's Bluff, six miles from Richmond, early yesterday morning.

TO MEET BISHOP GALLOWAY.

Committee Will Go to Winston Next Monday.

Bishop Chas. B. Galloway, who is to speak in West Market Street church next Monday evening at 8 o'clock on the Twentieth Century Educational movement, will receive a warm welcome in the Gate City. West Market Street church people are already preparing to do him honor. At the stewards' meeting of that church last night a committee was appointed to meet the bishop in Winston on Monday and accompany him to Greensboro. The committee is as follows: Rev. Drs. Rowe and Crawford, Dr. Dred Peacock, and Messrs. W. W. Wood and J. A. Odell.

Bishop Galloway is not an entire stranger here; he has been here and his fame preceded him. West Market Street church will be crowded to hear him.

In Memory of Mrs. Bynum.

The North Carolina Society of the daughters of the Revolution, at their meeting in Raleigh yesterday, passed the following resolution:

Mrs. Henrietta Erwin Bynum died at her home in Greensboro on Saturday the 17th day of February, 1900, at the age of 55. She was a daughter of the late William C. Irwin of Morganton, and in 1870 married John Gray Bynum. In her death, this society has lost one of its most useful members and the Presbyterian church one of its most devout communicants. Mrs. Bynum was a lovely woman, a charming companion and a devoted wife; and in every relation of life she impressed those with whom she came in contac with the fact, of her possession of those rare social, intellectual and christian qualities which constitute a noble woman. The society extends to the bereaved husband and relatives of the deceased its warmest sympathy.

It is ordered that the secretary forward a copy of these proceedings to Judge Bynum and to the newspapers with a request of publication.

FOR THE BABIES.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucous, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences. SHOT TO DEATH IN JAIL.

Punishment of a Negro in Waynesville for Assaulting a Little Girl.

Special to News and Observer.

Waynesville, N. C., March 5—The negro George Ratcliffe, who on Saturday night outraged a little white girl 8 years old, the granddaughter of Nithias Holland, three miles from Clyde, was shot to death in jail here early this morning by a mob of infuriated whites. It is thought that a large part of the mob followed the negro here from the scene of his crime.

He was run down and caught about 5 o'clock and brought to Clyde and placed under a heavy guard, who guarded him all night and brought him to Waynesville Sunday morning where he was placed in jail. He confessed his guilt Saturday night after being taken to Clyde, but claimed he did not accomplish his purpose.

It was a particularly atrocious crime. His victim is a poor little invalid girl of only eight years of age, having suffered all her life with St. St. Vitas' dance. It was almost impossible to prevent a lynching Saturday night, a mob remaining in town until a late hour. The whole country was worked up to the lynching point and the end the negro met has created no surprise.

FIGHTING THE DEVIL WITH FIRE.

This paper is no apologist for trusts. It doesn't believe in them except in so far as they may be a legitimate development of modern business methods. It believes them to be, if uncontrolled, a serious menace to the body politic. Neither does it have any desire to dash cold water upon any scheme designed to fight them—after all of which preface we desire to remark only that you can't fight the devil with fire, the old saying to the contrary notwithstanding. This is a common sense proposition, for when you begin that way you are gambling on the old boy's own game.

All schemes to fight trusts which are based themselves on trust principles and methods will fail, simply because you are playing the trust's own game and they have the best hand. They have the money and can employ the best talent and accomplish the most results. See how Maj. Guthrie's scheme was nipped in the bud at Durham last Saturday. The question of trusts has never been sifted to the bottom yet. No scientific and painstaking thought has been given it. The snap shot opinions of small politicians and so called statesmen are not worth the paper they are written on. Until some man can rise to tell us the true nature of trusts, how far they are legitimate and when they become otherwise and what course should be pursued toward them, in other words, the rightfulness or wrongfulness of them per se, we shall all still be in the dark, and fruitless and spasmodic schemes of fighting them will go on ever with the same results. The country is really hungry for somebody who knows something about trusts.

THE BURDEN OUR OPPORTUNITY.

In his New York speech Saturday, Mr. McKinley said:

There can be no imperialism. Those who fear are against it. Those who have faith in the republic are against it. So that there is universal abhorrence for it, and unanimous opposition to it. Our only difference is that those who do not agree with us have no confidence in the virtue or capacity or high purpose or good faith of this free people as a civilizing agency; while we believe that the country of free government which the American people have enjoyed has not rendered them faithless and irresolute, but has fitted them for the great task of lifting up and assisting to better conditions those distant peoples who have, through the issue of battle, become our wards. Let us fear not. There is no occasion for faint hearts, no excuse for regrets.

Gentlemen, we have the new cars and cannot shift it. And, breaking up the camp of ease and isolation, let us bravely and hopefully and soberly continue the march of faithful service and falter not until the work is done. Is it not possible that 75,000,000 of American freemen are unable to establish liberty and justice and good government in our new possessions; The burden is our opportunity. The opportunity is greater than the burden. May God give us strength to bear the one and wisdom, so to embrace the other as to carry to our distant acquisitions the guarantees of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

We have from the beginning thought well of Mr. McKinley in this business He did everything he could to prevent the war with Spain, the beginning of the whole thing. While he was trying to stave it off, some of the men who are loudest now in their denunciation of him and his policies, were then most vociferous in demands for war. But the president should not be disquieted by the opposition of men of this class.

We have been among those who did have confidence in the virtue and capacity and high purpose and "good faith of this free people as a civilizing agency;" we have believed that the responsibility was upon us and that we should rise to the occasion. It is folly to say that this country can or should remain isolated from the world. The world will in a few years as surely be divided among a few of the large nations as the sun shines; some people say this is destiny; it is the same principle that makes trusts, whatever that is. It is the death of individualism and competition. With this fact staring us in the face it is the rankest folly to say that this strong nation is unable to occupy the place alloted to it by its very strength and importance in the world; the greatest absurdity to say that it cannot govern a few islands of the sea. It can govern them; it must govern them. Nobody expects perfection, and if we make mistakes they will be remedied.

We note with interest a movement about to get on foot in Mecklenburg county, which, if successful, will prove a wonderful thing for the county in the course of a few years. The board of county commissioners met yesterday, and we read:

Dr. J. W. Stagg appeared before the board in the behalf of a tree planting movement. He urged the board to order the planting of walnut trees at the county's expense, along all the highways leading out of Charlotte. The board declined to make the order, but agreed to furnish the walnuts if the property owners on said road would do the planting.

This is really a fine scheme, a little ideal for this stage of this country's progress, one which, however, if executed, could not be excelled for charming effect upon the country.

The success that will attend, in a financial way, the Topeka Capitol next week, when it will be run as Jesus would do it, has already set in The first issue will appear next Monday, and so far over 100,000 new subscribers have come in, and at the paper's office there are pouring in by every mail loads of letters requiring the services of a dozen clerks to handle them. These letters come from every quarter of the civilized globe, from people who are anxious to see what Rev. Mr. Sheldon will put in a daily newspaper which he is running as he thinks Christ would do. About the most prominent fact in connection with this business so far is that the publishers of the Capitol have, in securing Mr. Sheldon's services, scored a ten strike

Not Good Eating.

New York Press.

The prime minister was idly turning the pages of a book of proverbs and pithy sayings which he had found among the effects of the late missionary.

"I wonder what this means?" he said suddenly. "One man's meat is another man's poison?"

"Perhaps," replied the Cannibal King, "it refers to the fact that the cigarette smoker is not edible."

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows; "I was in a most dreadful condition tion. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides; no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters: and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at C. E. Holton's drug store.

"Married life," said the confirmed bachelor, "should be one grand, sweet song." "But it needn't necessarily be a solo." remarked Henpekke sadly.

STORY OF A SLAVE.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. Geo. D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle-working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run-down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

PREVENTED A TRAGEDY.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Straitsville, O., prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had kept her awake every night. She tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

In the senate yesterday, Mr. Carter, of Montana, in explaining why he would vote for Quay, said that the latter was the victim of a diabolical plot in his own state.

RHEUMATISM—CATARRAH—DISEASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucuous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

HOT SLASH.

A Delicacy That Is Prized by New Orleans Negroes.

"Did you ever hear of an edible known as 'hot slash?'" asked a citizen who always keeps an eye open for life's little oddities. "No? Well, I'm not surprised. I discovered it myself only yesterday through a chance visit to the river front. It was about 11 o'clock in the morning, and I was loafing around the far end of the North-eastern fruit wharf waiting for a man, when a strapping big negro rushed up and bawled out: 'Hot slash! Hot slash!'

"I supposed he was addressing himself to me, but before I could think up some graceful and appropriate bit of repartee at least a dozen other strapping darkies came tumbling out from behind a pile of barrels, where a crap game had evidently been in progress, and started on a dead run for a nearby alleyway.

"None of them had asked any questions, and, needless to say, my curiosity was highly excited, so I trailed along in the rear and at the other end of the alley found the whole crowd, with numerous additions, clustered about a small covered wagon from which a mulatto was selling smoking hot loaves of bread at a nickel apiece. As each loaf was called for he split it open and saturated the interior with molasses from a can in the vehicle. That was hot slash. It seemed to be a local substitute for the merchants' lunch, which appears about the same hour in the retail district up town.

"I asked one of the darkies whether it was good, and his reply, while wordless, was extremely eloquent. The lower half of his countenance was buried in a fresh section of hot slash at the moment, and nothing was visible except his eyes, which he rolled upward until they resembled a couple of white celluloid pool balls. Then he closed them, very slowly, like a man in an ecstasy, and at the same time made a gurgling sound in his throat. After that pantomime I was strongly tempted to try a piece of hot slash myself."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

BLUE POINTS.

Something About These Aristocrats of the Bivalve Family.

A newborn oyster is a tiny fleck of creamy substance, not much larger than the point of a pin. Its advent in countless numbers from the middle of July to the middle of August is to the oysterman of Connecticut, where are located probably the largest seed oyster plants in the world, an event of the utmost interest. Long Island sound has some peculiarity of the water which renders it especially favorable for the raising of the choicest and most widely sought oysters. Not only are here located thousands of oyster plantations, but also immense natural oyster beds. And here and there only is raised the famous Blue Point oyster, the most delicately flavored of its kind and in demand the world over.

The Great South bay, on the outside of Long Island, facing the ocean and extending a distance of 50 miles from the towns of South Bay and Speonk, is the headquarters of the entire production of the genuine Blue Point oysters. The name is derived from a point of land which juts out into the bay here, called Blue point.

A combination of percentage of salt in the water, temperature, depth, condition of bottom, together with some indefinable quality possessed by the latter which is different from any other, gives to them their flavor, which has never yet been equaled by any of the various kinds of oysters raised in America, and the oyster industry is by far the most important fishing industry in the United States. The Blue Points are simply transplanted Norwalk and Bridgeport seed oysters, which are taken from oyster beds and put into the Blue Point beds in Great South bay, where they attain maturity under the most exalted and potent conditions, which graduate them oyster aristocrats, with reputations ready made, possessing the highest oyster valuation and sought for as "Divine Points" in every civilized land.—Hartford Times.

Effective Remedy.

A good story is told of one of the chiefs of the civil service department who had two afflictions—an obliging and easy doorkeeper and a pertinacious office seeker, who was a distant relative of the chief. Scarcely a week passed but the latter called, and the former was much too polite to shut him out.

The chief at last, after one of the usual interviews, resolved to stand the nuisance no longer, so, summoning the doorkeeper when the visitor had departed, he said, "X., do you know what that man comes after?"

"No, sir," replied the functionary.

"Well, then, I may as well tell you. He wants your place."

The bore was admitted no more.—Tit-Bits.

A Wonderful Escape.

The greatest height from which any one has accidentally fallen without receiving any injury beyond a shaking was nearly 1,000 feet by an East Indian living in the island of Oghin, who fell over a cliff at that height. His fall was broken at the foot of the precipice by masses of dense vegetation, and he escaped with no more serious injury than a severe shaking. The authenticity of this fall was vouched for by the French writer, H. de Parville.

An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remdy.

During the early part of October, 1896, I contracted a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient state. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state.—B. THE PAST.

I said: "The past it is dead.
I will bury it deep and still;
With a tablet over its head,
'Of the dead one may speak no ill.'"

I dug deep down in the loam,

But the past was the first one home
And waited to greet me there.

ANTS ACT AS STRATEGISTS.

Colonies of the Insects Transact Business With Military Precision.

From a military standpoint the methods employed by ants to provide food for an ant colony are almost perfect. Their foraging parties are faultless, both in planning and execution, and are almost uniformly successful. A resident of this city who visited South Africa gives this description of a foray of an army of ants.

The army, which he estimates to have numbered about 15,000 ants, started from its home in the mud walls of a hut and marched in the direction of a small mound of fresh earth but a few yards distant. The head of the column halted on reaching the foot of the mound and waited for the rest of the force to arrive at the place of operations, which evidently was to be the mound of fresh earth. When the remainder had arrived and halted so that the entire army was assembled, a number of ants detached themselves from the main body and began to ascend to the top of the mound, while the others began moving so as to encircle the base of the mound.

Soon a number from the detachment which had ascended the mound, evidently the attacking party, entered the loose earth and speedily returned, each bearing a cricket or a young grasshopper, dead, which he deposited upon the ground and then returned for a fresh load. Those who had remained on the outside of the mound took up the crickets and grasshoppers as they were brought out and bore them down to the base of the hill, returning for a fresh load. Soon the contents of the mound seemed to be exhausted, and then the whole force returned home, each carrying his burden of food for the community.

Here, then, was the regular foray, planned and executed with military precision, the country surveyed, the depot of provisions known accurately before the march was made and at the mound prudential division of labor and care taken that none of the victims should escape.—New York Herald.

Test For a Weak Mind.

Two men in a cafe were discussing a gift by a noted millionaire of a large sum of money to found a college chair of psychology.

"What is psychology, anyway?" asked one.

"It's the study of the mind, of the soul," said the other.

"What's the good of that?" asked the skeptic.

"A great deal of use," answered his companion. "I have studied it to some extent myself and can detect a weak minded man from a strong minded one by a very simple test. For instance, if I can make you say 'fourteen' against your will you lack will power. Will you let me try it on you? I believe I can make you say it."

"Make me say 'fourteen' against my will? You can't do it. Fire away!" And this is the way the test worked:

A.—How much are six and four?

B.—Ten.

A.—How much are eight and three?

B.—Eleven.

A.—How much are nine and seven?

B.—Sixteen.

A. (triumphantly)—Aha! There, you said it. I knew you would.

B. (indignantly)—Said what?

A.—Sixteen.

B.—But "fourteen" was the word we chose for the test.

A. (coolly)—Well, you've said it now, anyway.—New York Tribune.

Children of the Slums.

"Perhaps what I have seen of child life in the slums has made upon my heart the deepest scars," writes Mrs. Ballington Booth in The Ladies' Home Journal. "Poor little scraps of humanity, sick, puny and deformed, or, what was even worse still, vile and evil in word and disposition before the baby accents had left their words. The streets swarmed with them, playing, quarreling, fighting amid the jostling crowd and traffic until late into the night, and the houses were full of little figures that slept on the floor or crouched in the corners to get away from the drunken and brutal, who delight in abusing the weak. In summer death's angel mows them down through the hot season as the scythe cuts the flowers amid the hay, and it has often seemed to me that on such a mission his black robes vanish, and he is a veritable angel of light."

Gout In Hens.

Gout has been produced in hens by a Breslau doctor who fed them with meat. He gave the hens nothing but horseflesh without fat and as much water as they liked, with deplorable results to the unfortunate fowls. Having instilled the disease, he then undertook to drive out the uric acid by administering eggshell, which relieved the hens to a certain degree.

SCROFULA AND ITS AWFUL HORRORS

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLES.

A MOST WONDERFUL CURE.

A Grand Old Lady Gives Her Experience.

Mrs. Thankful Orilla Hurd lives in the beautiful village of Brighton, Livingston Co., Mich. This venerable and highly respected lady was born in the year 1812, the year of the great war, in Hebron, Washington Co., New York. She came to Michigan in 1840, the year of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too." All her faculties are excellently preserved, and possessing a very retentive memory, her mind is full of interesting reminiscences of her early life, of the early days of the State of Michigan and the interesting and remarkable people she has met, and the stirring events of which she was a witness. But nothing in her varied and manifold recollections are more marvelous and worthy of attention than are her experiences in the use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. Mrs. Hurd inherited a tendency and predisposition to scrofula, that terribly destructive blood taint which has cursed and is cursing the lives of thousands and marking thousands more as victims of the death angel. Transmitted from generation to generation, it is found in nearly every family in one form or another. It may make its appearance in dreadful running sores, in unsightly swellings in the neck or goitre, or in eruptions of varied forms. Attacking the mucous membrane, it may be known as catarrh in the head, or developing in the lungs it may be, and often is, the prime cause of consumption.

Speaking of her case, Mrs. Hurd says: "I was troubled for many years with a bad skin disease. My arms and limbs would break out in a mass of sores, discharging yellow matter. My neck began to swell and became very unsightly in appearance. My body was covered with scrofulous eruptions. My eyes were also greatly inflamed and weakened, and they pained me very much. My blood was in a very bad condition and my head ached severely at frequent intervals, and I had no appetite. I had sores also in my ears. I was in a miserable condition, I had tried every remedy that had been recommended, and doctor after doctor had failed. One of the best physicians in the state told me I must die of scrofulous consumption, as internal abcesses were beginning to form. I at length was told of Dr. Johnston, of Detroit, and his famous Sarsaparilla. I tried a bottle, more as an experiment than anything else, as I had no faith in it, and greatly to my agreeable surprise, I began to grow better. You can be sure I kept on taking it. I took a great many bottles. But I steadily improved until I became entirely well. All the sores healed up, all the bad symptoms disappeared. I gained perfect health, and I have never been troubled with scrofula since. Of course an old lady of 83 years is not a young woman, but I have had remarkably good health since then, and I firmly believe that JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA is the greatest blood purifier and the best medicine in the wide world, both for scrofula and as a spring medicine." This remarkably interesting old lady did not lok to be more than sixty, and she repeated several times, "I believe my life was saved by JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA."

You have been in the power house of some great plant of machinery. Did it occur to you that your body was a more wonderful machine?

In the term of a natural life the heart beats three thousand million times and with a pressure of thirteen pounds to the stroke, lifts in that time, half a million tons of blood. What care are you taking of this wonderful machine?

Shortness of breath, buzzing in the ears, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sleeplessness, stomach trouble, indigestion are only some of the evidences that the machinery is undergoing a strain which sooner or later will break it down.

What the lubricant is to the machine of iron, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is to the machine of flesh and blood. It reduces friction to a minimum and keeps the great organs in proper running order. It does this by healing diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, and increasing the flow of pure and healthy blood.

"I used ten bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and several vials of his Pleasant Pellets a year ago this spring, and have had no trouble with indigestion since," writes Mr. W. T. Thompson, of Townsend, Broadwater Co., Montana. "Words fail to tell how thankful I am for the relief, as I had suffered so much and it seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down in weight to 98 pounds and was not able to work at all. Now I weigh nearly two and can do a day's work on the farm. I have recommended your medicine to several, and shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. Use them with the "Discovery" when a pill is required.

WINE OF CARDUI

A SURE MEDICINE.

HANDSOM, VA., Dec. 21.
I have been suffering from female weakness for four years, and have taken many medicines, but Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught have done more for me than anything else.
MRS. CAROLINE EVANS.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

It is a mistake to take any and every kind of medicine when you are sick. There is danger in it. Most of the so-called cures for "female weakness" do nothing more than deaden the pain temporarily, and when the effect wears away the patient is weaker and sicker than before. It is never wise to take chances. You have only one life, and that is dear and precious. If you have any pain, ache, disorder or weakness in the feminine organs, nothing will help you like Wine of Cardui. It helps do away with morning sickness during the early stages of pregnancy, and modifies the pains of childbirth; recovery is rapid and future health is assured. The Wine is purely vegetable, being made of herbs whose medicinal properties act directly upon the organs of womanhood. It is a long-tried remedy, and has many years of success behind it. It is sure. Why take a chance medicine when you can get a sure medicine?

Little Pimples Turn to Cancer.

Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded Cancer. What has appeared to be a mere pimple or scratch has developed into the most malignant Cancer.

"I had a severe Cancer which was at first only a few blotches, that I thought would soon pass away. I was treated by several able physicians, but in spite of their efforts the Cancer spread until my condition became alarming. After many months of treatment and growing steadily worse, I decided to try S. S. S. which was so strongly recommended. The first bottle produced an improvement. I continued the medicine, and in four months the last little scab dropped off. Ten years have elapsed, and not a sign of the disease has returned."
E. F. WILLIAMS, Gillsburg, Miss.

It is dangerous to experiment with Cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Cancer.

I heartily recommend it to mothers." It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. It cures bronchitis, pneumonia, grippe and lung diseases.' It will prevent consumption. Boutelle and Blaine.

They used to tell a good story about Boutelle in connection with the campaign of 1884. He idolized Blaine, and for years there was bad blood between him and Reed, because Reed acted as though he thought himself as great as, or greater than, the plumed knight.

The story is that Boutelle accompanied Blaine on his western tour in 1884. When the special pulled out of New York, Boutelle rushed over to Blaine's seat, his face white with anger and his voice vibrant with passion. Holding in his trembling hands a copy of the New York Tribune, he pointed to an article and exclaimed, "Was there ever such fatuous blundering as that?"

For half an hour he commented on the article to the half score persons who had gathered round. The Tribune was Blaine's chief organ, as every one knew, but the fiery Yankee of French extraction continued to pour hot shot into it. Finally Blaine said, "Charley, do you know who wrote that and procured its insertion in The Tribune?"

"No," was the answer, "but I take it that it was Whitelaw Reid or some other infernal fool."

"You are wrong, Charley," replied Blaine. "I wrote it and had The Tribune print it."—Washington Cor. Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Hard Rain.

"It rains a great deal in the Puget sound country," says a man from that part of the Union, "and I heard a funny incident not long ago about it. Some chap had come from the Mississippi valley to take up his residence at Whatcom, on Bellingham bay, where there are very high tides. When the boat landed him at the end of the long pier extending over the tide flats, the water was low, and the new man did not notice anything but a wide stretch of sand between the boat and the town.

"It was in the evening, about dark, and was raining, and he went to the hotel on the front street and staid there, going to bed without having gone out for a walk. The next morning when he got up he looked out, and the tide was in, the water coming up close to the hotel. He gazed at the widespread waters for an instant, and, throwing up his hands in astonishment, he exclaimed, 'Gee whiz, but it must have rained hard last night!'

"Then he hurried down stairs to the office to find out if there was any danger from the flood, and the clerk smiled four or five times and gave him some much needed information."—Washington Star.

Yes—What?

A good story is going the rounds at Harvard college concerning a last year's graduate, a dutiful son and an industrious student, yet withal a somewhat liberal youth. At the beginning of his concluding year his father, who was just setting out for Europe, said to him:

"Now, Harry, you get your degree, and I'll send for you to come over and travel all summer."

Harry was delighted. "Father," said he, "I will." He studied faithfully all the college year and in June went through with flying colors. Then he cabled his father:

"Yes."

But the father, alas, had forgotten his impulsive offer. He mused over the message, wondered and then cabled back:

"Yes—what?"

The son was in turn perplexed, but, being a well trained lad, he did not remain long in the dark and, fired by duteous zeal, cabled back:

"Yes, sir."

Letters of explanation followed, and he won the "grand tour."—Atlanta Journal.

Chinese Fond of Sauerkraut.

With the advent of so many Chinese restaurants in different parts of the city it is confidently declared that "chop suey" and other well known Chinese delicacies are consumed more by Americans than by Chinamen. A Harlem Chinaman who had been down to Mott street for a social time was on a Third avenue "L" car and got into conversation with a neighbor.

"I suppose you like chop suey, eh, John?" asked the casual acquaintance.

"No," was the other's answer, with a positive shake of the head. "Me no likee chop suey. Me eat spareribs and sauerkraut."

And in further conversation it was revealed that this Chinaman, like many of his fellow countrymen in New York, who had, like himself, been here 14 years or so, hardly tasted traditional Chinese dishes. One of the first directions in which a Chinaman becomes Americanized is in his liking for American food, cooked in the American way.—New York Letter in Pittsburg Dispatch.

Concise and Explicit.

Many stories, mostly fabrications, have been told about long, diffuse telegraphic messages sent by women, as if the feminine mind were incapable of expressing itself concisely.

How false and slanderous such an impression is is well shown by an incident reported by a contemporary. A gentleman went to Paris on business. As he went away he said something to his wife about buying her a new dress. Just before starting homeward he telegraphed to his wife, "Which shall I bring you, a diamond ring or a silk dress?"

The reply was concise and explicit—one word, "Both."

How It Was.

Jack—I hear you lost a lot of money on Wall street while you were drunk.

Tom—I wasn't drunk, but the stocks I bought took a drop too much.—Boston Journal.

It is an open question as to whether indecision or rashness has assisted us to make the greater number of mistakes.

DYSPEPSIA

"My wife suffered for many years from Nervous Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Sleeplessness and Nervous Debility," writes John Kelloes, Philadelphia. She now eats and sleeps well, is gaining in flesh, and her color, which had got to be yellow and sickly, is now as fresh as when we were first married, and I tell her that Johnson's Dyspepsia Cure has made her ten years younger."

RAISING A CHECK.

A Negro Chicken Peddler Makes a Bungling Attempt.

A colored man named Albert Ryan, who lives near Julian and who hauls chickens to Greensboro, is in trouble. A few days ago he was here and in payment for some chickens gave him a check for five dollars. Ryan carried the check back to Julian. He owed a man down there a sum of money. The five dollar check was not enough to pay it, and he raised it to twenty-five. But it was a bungling job and the man to whom it was given, as the negro thought in payment of a debt, recognized at a glance that it had been "raised," but said nothing.

Mr. Hudson was notified and the check sent back for his inspection. A warrant was sworn out today and sent to an officer at Julian to arrest the unsuspecting Ryan, and it is believed he will be captured this afternoon.

The check was written in black ink and the raising was done with blue ink. Besides this there is no similarity between the style of figures or letters used. It seems to be a very plain case.

Tantalizing the Reporter.

If there is anything in this world that makes a newspaper man feel like betaking himself to a vast solitude and keeping himself company for the remainder of his days, it is to see the fine creations of his brain carefully and painstakingly brought out, butchered by the printer. Let him prepare an article fit for the gods and intended to be an exponent of his genius and brilliancy, and it is sure to come out in the paper, if it is impossible for him to see the proof, without sense, sound or sentiment.

For instance, in the wirte-up of an elegant dinner in which the various dishes were given, the word olives appeared in the first course. After the whole issue of the paper had gone out, it was discovered that the printer had onions in that course instead of olives. Of all things onearth onions! Another case, occuring in a neighboring town, was more disastrous still. It was the account of a fashionable dance. With his kind heart warming with generosity, and with a desire to make others happy, the reporter referred to a young lady dancing as gracefully and stately as Juno. Being unfamiliar with the name of Jupiter's spouse, but having heard more or less of Jumbo, the intelligent compositor slapped in the latter and gave it to a waiting world.

AN INDIANA ROMANCE TONIGHT.

This is a Fresh, Vigorous and Wholesome Play and all Round Satisfactory

The notices from place to place where the Indiana Romance has been presented speak very flatteringly of it as a clean, wholesome play.

The last act of this new play, "An Indiana Romance" is a revelation of dramatic power and would alone make the play a work of art destined to live forever. The fragrance of the apple blossoms in the orchard outside Sam Hickey's humble home seem to mingle with the tears in Sam Hickey's voice as he says with a broad smile to the others who come in with faces radiant by the happiness that has come to him and Mary, "I was just saying to Mary, Professor, I'm going to learn to dance.', This beautiful play will be at the Academy of Music tonight. It will be worth your while to see it.

Traveling Under Difficulties.

Last night at the depot a man and his wife with five children bound for California, got on 35. The man was evidently under the influence of whiskey. By some mistake they got on the Pullman car. It took Policemen Jeffreys and Jordan and a porter or two to get them located in the right car. They were loaded down with rations and bed clothing in a way that suggested the overland journeys of '49 in a prarie schooner rather than a fast mail train. The woman had a bright pleasant face and in her arms was a babe scarce a year old. It is to be hoped that the man did not increase the necessary discomforts of such a trip.

The new residence of Howard Gardner, on Summit avenue, has been finished and occupied. Mr. Gardner is now enjoying the luxury of one of the prettiest homes in the city.

Bricklaying has commenced on the new county jail, and if the pleasant weather continues it will not be many moons before the inmates of the "microbe incubator" will have first-class hotel accommodations.

There have been over one hundred cases of smallpox out in the vicinity of the terra cotta works and the county has only been called upon to feed four of them. In comparison with this, wait for the returns from Greensboro.

There will be a game of baseball in this city on March 24th between Guilford College and the Deaf and Dumb Institute, of Morganton. It will be a quiet game—at least on one side, and the Quakers are not apt to talk much.

Mr. H. W. Wharton is just out from a spell of sickness, which with a relapse that followed, kept him in some two months. He says that Greensboro is on such a move that he notices the difference that comes in two months.

Registrar and Poll Holders.

At a special meeting of the board of aldermen held last night, at which all the members were present except Merritt and Walker, the following officials were elected to hold the coming election, the first Monday in May:

Registrar—M. C. Workman.
Poll Holders: First Ward—A. M. McAdoo.
Second Ward—J. T. Abbot.
Third Ward—R. E. Sergeant.
Fourth Ward—J. H. Rankin.
Fifth Ward—Jno. Lewis.
Sixth Ward—R. A. Gilmer.

Concert Last Night.

Those who went to the Academy last night were well repaid for the going. It is gratifying to see that Greensboro has talent of such a high order. Mrs. Myra Albright was the soloist and accompianist. Miss Gorrell has a sweet bird-like soprano which has both range and flexibility. Miss Hunter's voice is a rich contralto of remarkable depth. The recital by Mrs. B C. Sharpe was excellent in expression both of tone and gesture. The flute solo by Mr. Wills and the vocal solos and duettes by Messrs. McAdoo, Brown and White were good.

Excitement, But No Scrap.

Dennis Yancey, colored, well known to the city police and others, has turned up again. He has not been seen around here much for several months, but was in evidence last night. Two young white men were passing a group of negroes near the McAdoo, when Dennis called to one of them in a rather familiar manner and it looked like a fight was imminent. The negro dodged around a few minutes and turned up around the corner on East Washington street. The boys were still after him, and the negro bully threw his hand to his hip pocket when the spectators saw something shining, and judged it to be a pistol. A disinterested spectator at once became interested, grabbed the negro and held him until Policeman Jordan came on the scene. Investigation revealed only a pint bottle of corn liquor, which was "the cause of it all."

Next to the Consumer is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.
